

ANNAMARIE HARRIS

AUTHOR | SPEAKER | ADVOCATE

From lived experience to lasting impact.

Hope. Recovery. Dignity. Second chances.

ABOUT ANNAMARIE

Annamarie Harris is an author, speaker, and advocate whose work turns lived experience into practical conversations about hope, recovery, homelessness, dignity, resilience, and second chances. Her approach combines personal storytelling with a clear challenge: see people as human beings first, and build systems that work in real life - not only on paper.

SIGNATURE SPEAKING TOPICS

- From the Other Side of the Desk

A lived-experience presentation for behavioral-health, homelessness, recovery, and re-entry professionals on how policies, language, consistency, and human connection affect engagement.

- Hope, Recovery & Second Chances

A candid, uplifting message about rebuilding a life, finding purpose, and turning difficult experiences into service.

- When Policy Meets Real Life

A presentation for organizations, community leaders, and policymakers exploring the gap between well-intended systems and the realities people face while navigating them.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS WITH A MESSAGE

Annamarie is the author of children's books including Winslow Walter Wallaby III, Barnabus Bumble's Big Change, Little Baby TRUE Bird, and Barely Bear: The Bear Who Almost Wasn't There. Barely Bear opens age-appropriate conversations about homelessness, empathy, dignity, and hope. A portion of proceeds from Barely Bear helps purchase needed items for local nonprofit organizations serving the community.
